One Day at a Time: Created by Gloria Calderon Kellett, Mike Royce. Starring Justina Machado, Todd Grinnell, Isabella Gomez, Marcel Ruiz. Transcript by Alexander Choriniak, Sergei Kosenkov "This is where we'll be." I opened my eyes, feeling a little strange. The room was dark and smelled like perfume. "Where am I," I thought. I have no idea. "Who are you," I asked. "This is where we'll be," came a man's voice. "Where are we," I asked again. "I don't know." I started to turn around and realized I was on the bed. I had no idea how I got here. "Who are you," I asked again. "I...we...we're friends." I didn't know what to say. I sat up on the bed and started looking around. "It's dark in here, so we can't see each other," I pronounced. "Yes, I know how you see me. The way you see me, you see me." "I see nothing but darkness," I replied. "If you want me to see you, just show me yourself." "That's impossible, you see, I'm a ghost. You can't see me." "What," I was confused. "You're a ghost." "Yes, I am a ghost." "What does that mean." "Just because I'm a ghost, what does that word mean?" "But it doesn't mean you're a spirit, I think you're just caught under a curse." "I'm under a curse" "Yes" "And you think I'm a ghost" "Yes." "You're right I'm a ghost. I'm the one who killed himself at 19, I'm just a ghost. I mean I'm a ghost who was murdered. What a ghost means." "What the name means." "What the name means" "Yes, you're a ghost" "What a ghost means, what a ghost is." "A ghost is a person who has been killed for the rest of his life. You are the ghost of a man who was killed for the rest of his life." "What's it like?" "There are two types of ghosts: some ghosts -- they never come back and never live again, ghosts -- they live, and they live forever. Kill a man to the end of his life and his ghost stays alive and will live forever. The ghost of a man who was killed before the end of his life will live forever." "But this man's ghost will not remember this man, he will not remember this." "This man's ghost will remember nothing, but the ghost of the man who killed him will remember that he killed him." The ghosts of the past haunt the murderers, and they cannot find solace. Forever imprisoned, he can no longer free himself from the curse hanging over him, and so he begins to kill. "By killing him, I freed my ghost and could not get rid of it. I was cursed forever. Now I cannot forget him." "I can't forget him because I killed him and now I bear the punishment for it." "Now that man's ghost haunts me. He haunts me in my dreams." "I can't sleep. At night, when everyone is asleep, I am afraid that he will come and take revenge on me."

That's what the guys who I saved from death write in their letters. These letters are very similar. You can read them in the newspapers. And on every page of the paper I read about the same thing: "...when I saw him, I knew he wanted to kill me. So I shot him and killed him." I know you're going to say to me, "But that's murder." Yes, guys, but if I didn't kill him, he would have killed me.
